ROOSEVELT AND KNOX AHEAD IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

Unpledged Democratic Candidates Are Trailing

Manchester, N. H., March 10.—(P)—Unpledged candidates for delegates to the Democratic National Convention trailed far behind those pledged to President Roosevelt as returns from today's presidential primary in New Hampshire slowly mounted tonight.

Republican candidates favorable to the candidacy of Colonel Frank Knox, Chicago and Manchester publisher, although unpledged, were in the lead in the tabulation of Republican ballots.

Of 16 candidates for eight places as delegates-at-large on the Democratic ticket, only four were not pledged to Roosevelt and in the returns from 100 precincts of the state's 295, they occupied the last four places.

One of these was Joseph Courtemarch, pledged to himself as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. He was 14th in the list and Ernest J. Lohrke, also pledged to Courtemarch, was fifteenth.

Edwin D. Sargent of Nashua, unpledged but favorable to Newton D. Baker, was in 13th place and Philip R. Sherman, also unpledged but a supporter of Alfred E. Smith, was last in the list.

Governor H. Styles Bridges topped the list of 16 candidates for the seven places as Republican delegates-at-large with U. S. Representative Chas. W. Tobey, second, former governor Huntley N. Spaulding, third, and former U. S. Senator George H. Moses, fourth. All of these are favorable to Colonel Knox's candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

In each of the state's two congressional districts, each party chose two delegates.

Former Senator Moses, claimed the election of eleven delegates—a complete ticket—favorable to Knox.

Extremist-Fascist Clashes in Spain Bring Death to 20

Army Forces Are Called to Restore Order Without Martial Law

Madrid, March 10.—(P)—Army troops forced peace to Granada tonight after a series of Extremist-Fascist clashes in which between seven and 20 were reported killed and 22 wounded.

The army forces were called to restore order without the formality of a martial law proclamation. The appearance of the armed guards brought a hasty end to Extremist-Fascist clashes in the city.

Cordons of soldiers were thrown around public buildings and additional guards were stationed outside telephone and light company plants. A general strike, called by Extremists, was continued for another 24 hours by the supervising committee.

Accurate count of fatalities was impossible after the civil governor clamped a strict censorship on all reports referring to the disorders.

A chocolate factory was burned when officials of the company refused to join the strike. Offices of the newspaper "Ideal" were wrecked and a monarchist theater was destroyed together with a number of cafes and restaurants.

Shipping continued from roof tops within the city during the day and the army forces engaged in brief clashes with the rioters.

Woman Leaps or Falls 7 Stories; is Slightly Hurt

Crowbars Are Used to Extricate Her From Steel Wire Netting

Chicago, March 10.—(P)—A pretty blonde girl whom Police Captain Thos. Duffy said he believed was Miss Patricia Drew, formerly of Squirrel Hill (Pittsburgh), Pa., was slightly injured today when she leaped or fell from the window of her 10th floor hotel (Commonwealth) room.

She landed on a steel wire netting covering a third floor skylight. The mesh cushioned the fall and became wrapped around the woman's body, necessitating the use of crowbars to extricate her.

Miss Drew, about 28, was taken to the North Chicago hospital where Dr. Emanuel Toomin, superintendent, said an examination revealed no fractures or internal injuries. He said she was "seriously injured."

Roman B. Lorenz, the hotel manager, said he understood the girl was also known as June Dayly of Detroit. Miss Duffy said he had asked police there to check on the name of "June Dayly."

"I have sufficient evidence to believe the girl is Patricia Drew of Squirrel Hill," Duffy said.

Duffy declared that at the hospital Miss Drew screamed hysterically: "Why didn't you let me finish it?"

In her incoherent mumblings, Duffy said, he detected the name "Paul."

Pittsburgh police, Duffy declared, were asked to check the information obtained here in the hope of verifying her identification.

The police captain declared the girl told him she was the daughter of a Pittsburgh Judge now dead.

Securities Act Hit And Defended Before High Court

Law Attacked as Invalid And a Violation of State Rights

By Melbourne Christerson Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, March 10.—(P)—The 1933 securities act was challenged in the supreme court today as an instrument to regulate individual conduct and as being necessary to prevent fraud.

Counsel for J. Edwards Jones, New York broker, attacked the law as an invalid delegation of congressional authority and a violation of state rights.

The government countered with the contention that congress had full power over the mails and interstate commerce "to protect the public from fraud that is widespread."

James M. Beck, former republican solicitor general who is one of the counsel for Jones, will complete his arguments tomorrow. Then the court will turn to another challenged New Deal law—the Gutley soft coal control act.

The state of Washington, in a brief filed with the court today, became the sixth state to support the Gutley measure, which authorizes federal regulation of wages and hours as well as price-fixing in the bituminous coal industry.

Harry O. Glasser, of Enid, Okla., representing Jones, told the justices that the "truth in securities" act "does not regulate commerce but individual conduct." He added that despite the act it was still possible for "wildcat" stock to be sold through the mails.

Attempt To "Alarm" Populace "Fails"

Hendon, England, March 10.—(P)—Expert noisemakers, armed with 36 types of air raid alarm devices, including a hundred-year-old wooden rattle, tried in vain today to "alarm" the populace of Hendon.

CORPORATION TAX MAY REACH 75 PER CENT

Schedules Presented To Committee By Experts

By Douglas B. Cornell Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, March 10.—(P)—New tax schedules outlining rates as high as 75 per cent on individual corporate income were presented today by treasury experts to a subcommittee of the house ways and means committee.

The house group had requested estimates which would permit carrying out President Roosevelt's suggested corporate tax revision and yet enable industry to lay by a reserves "cushion" for hard times.

Representative Woodruff (R-Mich.) immediately said there was "no doubt" the schedules were intended by the treasury to swerve congressional sentiment toward the original presidential proposal.

Democrats on the subcommittee, however, while conceding the figures they received today were incomplete and "meant little," said they expected the treasury to elaborate tomorrow.

The subcommittee is especially interested in learning whether rates can be devised to bring in $620,000,000 additional in annual revenue, and still not penalize the building up of "reasonable" corporate reserves.

(Mr. Roosevelt said the $620,000,000 needed for farm relief and bonus prepayment could be raised by repealing existing corporate taxes, and in their place levying a high tax on corporate earnings which are not distributed to stockholders in dividends. The existing exemption from "normal" income taxes of dividends received by individuals also would be repealed. Original treasury rate suggestions on which the $620,000,000 figure was based provided no exemptions or lesser rates for "cushion" purposes.

Calling at the white house today, Representative Bankhead of Alabama, the Democratic leader, said he told the president the projected tax bill would be given precedence on the house floor and that congressional adjournment by May 1 still was a possibility.

Six alternative rate schedules were given the subcommittee today. Most members described them as confusing and said they could not explain them.

Earl Beatty, 65, Former Lord of Admiralty, Dies

Big Navy Champion Passes Away at London Home For Aged

London, March 10.—(P)—Earl Beatty, former first lord of the admiralty and big navy champion, died tonight in the London Home for the Aged after a long illness. He was 65 years old.

He predicted his death last November after he had climbed from a sick-bed to attend the funeral of a colleague, Earl Jellicoe.

"So Jellicoe is gone," he said then, "I feel I'll be the next to be summoned. I don't think the call will be long. I'm tired, very tired."

At his bedside tonight were his son, Viscount Borodale, a doctor and a nurse. Despite the seriousness of his illness, he attended the funeral of the late King George V, an event which friends said probably hastened his death.

The death of the former admiral of the fleet causes a vacancy in the Beakham district of South London which at present is represented in the House of Commons by his heir, Viscount Borodale.

Lord Beatty, one of the few retired World War figures of Great Britain, was placed on the retired list of the Royal Navy Jan. 17, 1936, after he reached the age limit.

Lobby Committee Prepared For Hot Court Battle

Will Defend Its Right to Seek Evidence In Files of Western Union

By Richard L. Turner Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, March 10.—(P)—Equipped with an attorney and armed with a stack of law books, the Senate lobby committee tonight awaited a turn in court in defense of its power to seek evidence in the message files of the telegraph companies.

It will argue in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia tomorrow that that tribunal has no authority to enjoin the Western Union from producing original telegrams subpoenaed by the committee. It will ask that a petition for such an injunction be dismissed for want of jurisdiction.

On the other side of the argument, Frank J. Hogan, widely-known capital lawyer, will contend that a subpoena for all the telegrams of his client, Silas Strawn, and his law partners, over a ten-month period, constitutes an illegal invasion of rights of privacy guaranteed by the constitution.

Although of no pertinence in the legal argument, Chairman Black (D-Ala.), the Senate's chief lobby prober, has said the committee was seeking messages charged to Winston Strawn and Shaw and paid for by the American Liberty League. Strawn is a former president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Murder Trial of Day Opens May 4

Joliet, Ill., March 10.—(P)—The murder trial of James Day, 21 year old Stateville Penitentiary convict, quoted as confessing he killed Richard "Dickie" Loeb, 1924 trial slayer, was set today for Monday, May 4.

The young convict was not in court to fix Circuit Judge Edwin L. Wilson his date. Day has been held in a penitentiary detention cell since Loeb's killing on Jan. 28, in a prison bathroom.

Day's three attorneys, James E. Burke of Joliet, Harold Levy and Emmet Byrne, Chicago, sought an immediate trial. They yesterday obtained changes of venue from Judges W. R. Hunter and Claude N. Saum, on the grounds of prejudice.

PEGGY NASH ACQUITTED

St. Louis, March 10.—(P)—Mrs. Peggy Nash, 30-year-old former torch singer, tonight was acquitted of murder in the Armistice Day slaying of her husband, William Howard Nash, taxi-cab operator and former Chicago beer-runner.

A city court jury reached its verdict after deliberating 4 hours and 15 minutes. Mrs. Nash, who had appeared on the verge of hysteria several times during the trial, collapsed in a corridor outside the court room after the verdict was read.

SEN. ROBINSON DEFENDS FDR; FLAYS CRITICS

Roosevelt May Ask Congress For Big Relief Fund

By D. Harold Oliver Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, March 10.—(P)—Intimations that President Roosevelt soon would ask congress for between $1,000,000,000 and $1,500,000,000 for continuing his work relief program were dropped in senate circles today as Democrats extolled a twin defense of the WPA and PWA.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, in a 7,000 word prepared address, defended "boondoggling" under Harry L. Hopkins' Works Progress Administration, and asserted the Republican National Committee and "misallied Liberty League" were attempting to make a "political football out of the unfortunate unemployment."

Soon afterward, Senator Hayden (Dem-Arizona) read another prepared speech paying tribute to the Public Works Administration under Secretary Ickes and urging another $700,000,000 appropriation for new non-federal projects already proposed but for which funds are lacking.

On the present 45-55 grant-loan basis, Hayden said this would enable construction of $1,500,000,000 of state and municipal projects.

Sandwiched in between the two Democratic speeches was a fresh demand from Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) for a full investigation of the charges that WPA is being used for "political exploitation for a partisan purpose."

The double Democratic defense reached its height just as President Roosevelt at his press conference said he had not determined upon the exact amount he would ask of congress for relief purposes.

In making known that his special message on the relief question would not go forward this week, Mr. Roosevelt intimated he might even delay it until the outset of his annual trip to Florida on March 19.

Gov. F. F. Merriam Plans to Support Gov. Alf Landon

California Governor Decides Not to Make Race For President

Sacramento, Calif., March 10.—(P)—Gov. Frank F. Merriam suddenly announced today that he would support Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas for the Republican presidential nomination.

Merriam, until yesterday considered a potential candidate himself, said he had decided against this course "because I could not see where I could spare the time to enter into the campaign or a contest as seemed to be developing."

He said his friends then decided to support Landon and he made up his mind to go along with them.

The announcement came on the heels of varying statements from organized Landon supporters as to whether the Kansas chief executive would be represented by a delegate state in the California primaries May 5.

The Landon Republican League of California, with headquarters in San Francisco, announced last night it had acceded to Landon's desire that his name not be entered on the primary ballot.

Ross Marshall, Southern California leader of Landon supporters, promptly declared the Kansas governor would be entered. Marshall indicated Landon would not oppose the move, although the Kansas governor thus far has not encouraged the use of his name on primary ballots.

Dr. Glenn Frank May Resign Post

Madison, Wis., March 10.—(P)—The Capital Times said today that Dr. Glenn Frank will either resign or be removed as president of the University of Wisconsin by June 1.

Following closely on a report that a member of the board of regents was prepared to ask for the president's resignation, the Capital Times said it was learned that Dr. Frank has made a defense of his administration before the board at a closed session today.

The newspaper said that Harold M. Wilkie, president of the board, replied to Dr. Frank and told him that the university should not pay a president $28,000 a year and expressed belief that Dr. Frank was at fault for not taking a firmer stand in the recent controversy in the athletic department.

SCALDED TO DEATH

France and England Appear To Be "Pulling Solution" Out of The Locarno Crisis

By John Evans

Paris, March 10.—(P)—France and England appeared tonight to be pulling a solution out of the Locarno crisis that some thought spelled war.

A sudden shift to London of today's conference of Locarno signatories was taken to mean that the two powers had agreed upon a firm stand toward Germany and possibly the lifting of economic sanctions from Italy.

Pierre-Etienne Fladin, French foreign minister, backed by his ring of military allies virtually encircling Germany, was understood to have hammered home to Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, that Hitler's might could only be balked by "right linked with force."

Out of Premier Sarraute's refusal to negotiate while a German army was still in the Rhineland and the disposition of Britain to consider German proposals for a new all embracing pact, the four allied Locarno signatories—Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium—were reported evolving a formula acceptable to both.

One portion of this formula, it was reported, involved a clean bill of health in Africa for Premier Mussolini.

"NUDIST" ARRIVES "FULLY" DRESSED

Newark, N. J., March 10.—(P)—Miss Florence Gubitt, who promised to step out of an airplane here in the nude, arrived fully dressed today and "very embarrassed," she said, because she had to wear clothing.

A large crowd assembled to see the girl arrive from Los Angeles and watched closely as she left the plane but all they saw was a bit of silk clad knee as she stepped to the ground.

Miss Gubitt said she intended to carry out her promise but was notified by the airport officials who would not permit it, and she had decided to respect their wishes.

Not knowing of her decision, three members of the public morals squad of the police department were on hand, ready to act if they saw anything they judged immoral.

Miss Gubitt, who said she has been a nudist for five years, wore a black dress and hat and gray fur coat.

Tau Kappa Epsilon Members, Guests Eat "Crow Meat"

Most Of Guests Pronounce Dish "Not So Bad"; State Furnishes Birds

Decatur, Ill., March 10.—(P)—One hundred guests of Millikin University Chapter, Tau Kappa Epsilon, sat down to crow meat for the first time tonight at the social fraternity's annual banquet.

Most of the guests pronounced the dish "not bad." Sponsors of the banquet said only one invited guest pleaded a "previous engagement."

The state conservation department, engaged in a crow eradication campaign, was delighted to furnish the meat course. The birds were soaked in brine over night, then baked as quail or quab is prepared.

Several guests said they relished the crow gravy. Other comments were "Ganey, but not too strong," "very palatable," and "reasonably tender."

A few guests reserved comment on the main course, but said they enjoyed the dinner.

Mary Harvey, chief dietitian of the Decatur and Mason County hospital, was a guest. She termed the banquet "very good." Dr. Viola Bell, of the Millikin home economics department, thought it "very palatable."

Fire Aboard Ship Is Under Control

London, March 10.—(P)—The German liner Potsdam reported tonight she was burning in the English channel but shortly afterward declared the outbreak of fire was under control.

"We are burning 11 miles south of Yorthing," the first message said. "Please hurry."

On the heels of the call for assistance came another message from Shoreham which declared the fire had been brought under control.

The liner, a new vessel of 18,000 tons, is en route from Hamburg to Yokohama with passengers.

INSPECTS CAMP

Eldred, Ill., March 10.—(P)—Gov. Henry Horner, conducting a pre-primary campaign for renomination, inspected the Civilian Conservation Corps camp here late today.

OFFER PLAN TO SETTLE SERVICE STRIKE IN N. Y.

Union Recognition; Arbitration Of Pay Suggested

New York, March 10.—(P)—A reality board spokesman tonight offered a plan to settle the 10-day building service strike calling for union recognition and arbitration of minimum pay.

The offer followed extension of the strike during the day to skyscrapers in the Grand Central, Times Square and Columbus Circle districts of midtown, and to the Brighton Beach section of Brooklyn, although the operators declared the fresh walkouts had been ineffective.

The board's attorney, Walter Gordon Merritt, said in a radio address that if the union accepted, the board would recommend to its members a three-year extension of the 1934 agreement, known as the Curran award, plus arbitration of minimum pay now and in 1937 and 1938. This agreement, he said, provided recognition of the union for collective bargaining, non-discriminating against union members, replacement of union members only by other union members, and arbitration of hours and wages.

No mention was made of the closed shop issue, the principal point of difference between the two sides.

Meanwhile Jerry J. Horah, national president of the Building Service Employees International Union, presided at a mass meeting of strikers. A police photographer was present to take notes. At a similar meeting last week James J. Bambrick, local union head, made remarks District Attorney William C. Dodge considered inflammatory. The strikers, leaving the meeting, perpetrated many acts of vandalism along Park avenue and the prosecution summoned Bambrick to his office for a warning.

Vernon, Ill.; associate pastor of Ben Avon Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, Pa.; before being called to Decatur. He is a young man, a forceful speaker, with commanding presence.

Paris, March 10.—(P)—France and England appeared tonight to be pulling a solution out of the Locarno crisis that some thought spelled war.

A sudden shift to London of today's conference of Locarno signatories was taken to mean that the two powers had agreed upon a firm stand toward Germany and possibly the lifting of economic sanctions from Italy.

Pierre-Etienne Fladin, French foreign minister, backed by his ring of military allies virtually encircling Germany, was understood to have hammered home to Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, that Hitler's might could only be balked by "right linked with force."

Out of Premier Sarraut's refusal to negotiate while a German army was still in the Rhineland and the disposition of Britain to consider German proposals for a new all embracing pact, the four allied Locarno signatories—Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium—were reported evolving a formula acceptable to both.

One portion of this formula, it was reported, involved a clean bill of health in Africa for Premier Mussolini of Italy in exchange for the moral force of his million man army in Europe.

The sudden transfer of the Locarno discussions to London and the summoning of the council of the league of nations to meet here Saturday, presumably to ratify their decision was interpreted as proof that the conferees were near agreement.

Whether that agreement involves force or sanctions was not revealed. Observers said force, at least in a "moral" form, was involved in Fladin's mental parade of allies before Eden to show how many countries and how many millions of soldiers were willing to back France to halt Hitler if events should demand it.

Fladin showed Eden that Italy, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Russia and Poland were bound by a treaty to be ready to act and that others might be pulled in through the Balkan pact.

Italy alone was the problem, observers said, but Mussolini in the face of a delicate European situation would be willing to back France in return for the lifting of sanctions against him.

OFFER PLAN TO SETTLE SERVICE STRIKE IN N. Y.

Union Recognition, Arbitration Of Pay Suggested

New York, March 10.—(P)—A really board spokesman tonight offered a plan to settle the 10-day building service strike calling for union recognition and arbitration of minimum pay.

The offer followed extension of the strike during the day to skyscrapers in the Grand Central, Times Square and Columbus Circle districts of midtown, and to the Brighton Beach section of Brooklyn, although the operations declared the fresh walkouts had been ineffective.

The board's attorney, Walter Gordon Merritt, said in a radio address that if the union accepted, the board would recommend to its members a three-year extension of the 1934 agreement, known as the Curran award, plus arbitration of minimum pay now and in 1937 and 1938. This agreement, he said, provided recognition of the union for collective bargaining, non-discriminating against union members, replacement of union members only by other union members, and arbitration of hours and wages.

No mention was made of the closed shop issue, the principal point of difference between the two sides.

Meanwhile Jerry J. Horah, national president of the Building Service Employees International Union, presided at a mass meeting of strikers. A police stenographer was present to take notes. At a similar meeting last week James J. Bambrick, local union head, made remarks District Attorney William C. Dodge considered inflammatory. The strikers leaving the meeting perpetrated many acts of vandalism along Park avenue and the prosecution summoned Bambrick to his office for a warning.

Extremist-Fascist Clashes in Spain Bring Death to 20

Army Forces Are Called To Restore Order Without Martial Law

Madrid, March 10.—(P)—Army troops forced peace to Granada tonight after a series of Extremist-Fascist clashes in which between seven and 20 were reported killed and 22 wounded.

The army forces were called to restore order without the formality of a martial law proclamation. The appearance of the armed guards brought a hasty end to Leftist sacking of Rightist business establishments.

Cordons of soldiers were thrown around public buildings and additional guards were stationed outside telephone and light company plants. A general strike, called by Extremists, was continued for another 24 hours by the supervising committee.

Accurate count of fatalities was impossible after the civil governor clamped a strict censorship on all reports referring to the disorders.

Sniping continued from roof tops within the city during the day and the army forces engaged in brief clashes with the rioters.

A chocolate factory was burned when officials of the company refused to join the strike. Offices of the newspaper "Ideal" were wrecked and a monarchist theater was destroyed together with a number of cafes and restaurants.

Securities Act Hit And Defended Before High Court

Law Attacked as Invalid And a Violation of State Rights

By Melbourne Christensen
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, March 10.—(P)—The 1933 securities act was challenged in the supreme court today as an instrument to regulate individual conduct and defended as being necessary to prevent fraud.

Counsel for J. Edwards Jones, New York broker, attacked the law as an invalid delegation of congressional authority and a violation of state rights. The government countered with the contention that congress had full power over the mails and interstate commerce "to protect the public from fraud that is widespread."

James M. Beck, former republican solicitor general who is one of the counsel for Jones, will complete his arguments tomorrow. Then the court will turn to another challenged New Deal law—the Guafey soft coal control act.

The state of Washington in a brief filed with the court today, became the sixth state to support the Guafey measure, which authorizes federal regulation of wages and hours as well as price-fixing in the bituminous coal industry.

Harry O. Glasser, of Enid, Okla., representing Jones, told the justices that the "truth in securities" act "does not regulate commerce but individual conduct." He added that despite the act it was still possible for "wildcat" stock to be sold through the mails.

Lobby Committee Prepared For Hot Court Battle

Will Defend Its Right To Seek Evidence In Files of Western Union

By Richard L. Turner
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, March 10.—(P)—Equipped with an attorney and armed with a stack of law books, the Senate lobby committee tonight awaited a turn in court in defense of its power to seek evidence in the message files of the telegraph companies.

It will argue in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia tomorrow that that tribunal has no authority to enjoin the Western Union from producing original telegrams subpoenaed by the committee. It will ask that a petition for such an injunction be dismissed for want of jurisdiction.

On the other side of the argument, Frank J. Hogan, widely-known capital lawyer, will contend that a subpoena for all the telegrams of his client, Silas Strawn, and his law partners, over a ten-month period, constitutes an illegal invasion of rights of privacy guaranteed by the constitution.

Although of no pertinence in the legal argument, Chairman Black (D-La.), the Senate's chief lobbyist, has said the committee was seeking messages charged to Winston Strawn and Shaw and paid for by the American Liberty League. Strawn is a former president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Gov. F. F. Merriam Plans to Support Gov. Alf Landon

California Governor Decides Not to Make Race For President

Sacramento, Calif., March 10.—(P)—Gov. Frank F. Merriam suddenly announced today that he would support Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas for the Republican presidential nomination.

Merriam, until yesterday considered a potential candidate himself, said he had decided against this course "because I could not see where I could spare the time to enter into the campaign or a contest as seemed to be developing."

He said his friends then decided to support Landon and he made up his mind to go along with them.

The announcement came on the heels of varying statements from organized Landon supporters as to whether the Kansas chief executive would be represented by a delegate state in the California primaries May 5.

The Landon Republican League of California, with headquarters in San Francisco, announced last night it had acceded to Landon's desire that his name not be entered on the primary ballot.

Ross Marshall, Southern California leader of Landon supporters, promptly declared the Kansas governor would be entered. Marshall indicated Landon would not oppose the move, although the Kansas governor thus far has not encouraged the use of his name on primary ballots.

Tau Kappa Epsilon Members, Guests Eat "Crow Meat"

Most Of Guests Pronounce Dish "Not So Bad"; State Furnishes Birds

Decatur, Ill., March 10.—(P)—One hundred guests of Millikin University Chapter, Tau Kappa Epsilon, sat down to crow meat for the first time tonight at the social fraternity's annual banquet.

Most of the guests pronounced the dish "not bad." Sponsors of the banquet said only one invited guest pleaded a "previous engagement."

The state conservation department, engaged in a crow eradication campaign, was delighted to furnish the meat course. The birds were soaked in brine over night, then baked as quail or quab is prepared.

Several guests said they relished the crow gravy. Other comments were: "Gamey, but not too strong," "very palatable," and "reasonably tender."

A few guests reserved comment on the main course, but said they enjoyed the dinner.

Mary Harvey, chief dietician of the Decatur and Macon County hospital, was a guest. She termed the crow meat "very good." Dr. Viola Bell, of the Millikin home economics department, thought it "very palatable."

Report Increase In Scarlet Fever To School Board

100 Pupils Under Quarantine; To Finish Lafayette Wrecking Soon

Complete demolition of the present Lafayette school building within three weeks is expected, Sam Foley, chairman of the building and grounds committee of the board of education reported last night at a regular board meeting, with construction probably getting underway during the early part of April. The report of the buildings' chairman followed a report given by Dr. R. C. Stoops, superintendent, that the health condition in the city is becoming worse instead of better, and that there is an immediate need for a full time nurse in each of the schools to aid in checking the spread of scarlet fever.

There are at present about 100 pupils quarantined to their homes with scarlet fever, compared to the 50 or 60 of last month. The city health nurse is spending all of her time in the schools, but does not have enough time to make calls at homes in the interest of preventing further spread of the disease.

Some of the cases reported recently have been of the severe variety, Dr. Stoops stated, with ear and eye trouble accompanying the illness. He told the board that the full time nurses would be needed for a month, and that the estimated cost was $100 for each nurse, a cost of about $400 for the district. He said he could not find any funds available at present for the expenditure, and that he was attempting to find some source from which assistance could be procured.

The site of the new building will be permanently decided upon when the architect comes here during the next two weeks for that purpose. Mr. Foley advised the board. Efforts have been made to avoid a number of cisterns located on the grounds, and the buildings' chairman said he believed that no difficulty would be experienced from this source.

The board, in addition to hearing the reports of the building committee and Dr. Stoops, approved bills and then adjourned until Friday afternoon of this week, when the architect expects to be here for a conference with the board.

Dr. Stoops called the attention of the board to the illness of one grade school teacher, who has been quarantined with scarlet fever, and to the illness of two other employees of the district, who are suffering other maladies.

Reporting on the number of promotions during the first semester of the present term, the superintendent said that there had been only 5.8 per cent failures, a figure considered to be better than normal.

Interesting discussions on educational matters which took place at the meeting of the National Educational Association were included in the superintendent's report.

Startling statistics, showing that there are enrolled in the city grade schools at present 120 fewer students than were enrolled in the grade schools in 1915-16, and that the 1915-16 school taxes yielded $58.19 per pupil compared to the $33.30 brought in by taxes for the present year, led the superintendent to forecast that the district would face a small deficit at the conclusion of the present term. The population of the city is remaining practically static, he concluded from his survey, but the amount of money available for educating them has been decreasing steadily until at present it is only about half what it was 20 years ago. The district received approximately $16,000 from the state school distributive fund, and an additional $24,000 in tuition from students from non-high school districts. His survey disclosed, but even this amount is not expected to operate the schools during the year.

Westminster to Hold Preaching Mission Here

Services at Local Church to Begin March 16; Rev. O. W. Pratt to Speak

The Westminster Presbyterian church will conduct a week's preaching mission Monday to Friday, March 16-20, the services being held at 7:30 o'clock each evening. The series is a part of the state-wide movement of the Presbyterian organization.

The guest preacher will be the Rev. Owen W. Pratt, minister of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Decatur, a congregation of nearly a thousand members, near the Millikin college campus. Mr. Pratt received his bachelor's degree from Washash College, Indiana; and his ministerial training at Western Seminary, Pennsylvania. He has been pastor of the First Presbyterian church Mt. Vernon, Ill.; associate pastor of Ben Avon Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, Pa.; before being called to Decatur. He is a young man, a forceful speaker, with commanding presence.

The pastor of the local church, Rev. W. C. Meeker, announces that the week will be divided into special nights, Monday will be "Church-night," when a special effort will be made to get out the entire membership of Westminster congregation. Tuesday will be "College-night" when the faculties and students of local colleges are especially invited; Wednesday will be "High-School Night," for high school teachers and students, as well as other public schools; and Thursday will be "School for the Deaf Night," when students of that institution will attend in a body. Friday will be "Sunday School Night" for Sunday school teachers, officers and scholars.

Mr. Pratt will address the Illinois college chapel Tuesday morning at 10:45 o'clock; and MacMurray college chapel Wednesday morning at 10:30.

Westminster church expresses the hope that sister churches of its own denomination and other denominations will show the true union spirit by attending as many of these services as possible, to which the general public is cordially invited.

Attempt To "Alarm" Populace "Fails"

Hendon, England, March 10.—(P)—Expert noisemakers, armed with 36 types of air raid alarm devices, including a hundred-year-old wooden rattle, tried in vain today to "alarm" the populace of Hendon.

The experiment, under the government air raid precautions department, fizzled completely as the signals were drowned out by the roar of traffic.

Women went on with their shopping without turning their heads and residents who had been informed of the demonstration in advance cocked their ears to hear the bullaballoo, then called up the police station to learn if the program had been cancelled.

Murder Trial of Day Opens May 4

Joliet, Ill., March 10.—(P)—The murder trial of James Day, 21 year old Stateville Penitentiary convict quoted as confessing he killed Richard "Dickie" Loeb, 1924 thrill slayer, was set today for Monday, May 4.

The young convict was not in court to hear Circuit Judge Edwin L. Wilson fix the date. Day has been held in a penitentiary detention cell since Loeb's killing, on Jan. 28, in a prison bathroom.

Day's three attorneys, James E. Burke of Joliet, Harold Levy and Emmett Byrne, Chicago, sought an immediate trial. They yesterday obtained changes of venue from Judges W. R. Hunter and Claude N. Saum, on the grounds of prejudice.

Dr. Glenn Frank May Resign Post

Madison, Wis., March 10.—(P)—The Capital Times said today that Dr. Glenn Frank will either resign or be removed as president of the University of Wisconsin by June 1.

Following closely on a report that a member of the board of regents was prepared to ask for the president's resignation, the Capital Times said it was learned that Dr. Frank has made a defense of his administration before the board at a closed session today.

The newspaper said that Harold M. Wikke, president of the board, replied to Dr. Frank and told him that the university should not pay a president $28,000 a year and expressed belief that Dr. Frank was at fault for not taking a firmer stand in the recent controversy in the athletic department.

Fire Aboard Ship Is Under Control

London, March 10.—(P)—The German liner Potsdam reported tonight she was burning in the English channel but shortly afterward declared the outbreak of fire was under control.

"We are burning 11 miles south of Yorthing," she first message said. "Please hurry."

On the heels of the call for assistance came another message from Shoreham which declared the fire had been brought under control.

The liner, a new vessel of 18,000 tons, is en route from Hamburg to Yokohama with passengers.

House-Cleaning Time

"It's house-cleaning time," a local citizen remarked ruefully yesterday as the warm sun stirred the ambitions of housewives to clean their homes. The women are cross and the men are tired. The gentleman did not comment further, but our heart went out in sympathy to him. We understood that he was having difficulty at home, but we knew also that once the spring cleaning is finished, everything will be all right. We reminded him that there are premature spring dawns, and there is likely to be some chilly weather even yet. But he refused to be comforted. "Spring's here anyway," he insisted, "and it's house-cleaning time." Evidently he had given the same warning to his women folk, but it went unheeded.

The average man is a quiet-loving creature. He likes to have a place for everything at home, and to find everything in its place when he wants it. If things are not where he expects to find them, he is helpless. He also has a feeling that when he has finished a hard day's work in the office or the shop, that should end it. But when he reaches home, he is called on to mount the stairs, take down or put up curtains, beat rugs, wax floors, and move furniture. He may even have to spread paint in his spare time.

Fortunately the orgy of cleaning does not last long, else there might be some domestic upheavals. When it is finished, the citizen breathes a sigh of relief as he recognizes his surroundings, once more familiar after a venturable tornado. His wife also is relieved; the house is clean for the summer season. Domestic peace returns, and the family resumes normal living. With meals served in the accustomed place and the furniture where it ought to be. There are no curtain rods on the chairs, no wall pictures piled on the library table. Maybe house-cleaning time is here, but we can anticipate the day when the job will be finished.

John Bull on The Spot

The sudden occupation of the Rhineland by German troops has placed England in an embarrassing position. The European chessboard has been so complicated that it is a problem for experts, one which they would like to push into the background. But England is on the spot, and she holds the key to peace or war in Europe.

It will be remembered that the British sought and everywhere in their attempt to put a curb on Italy in Ethiopia. Their ships prowled the Mediterranean. Egypt swarmed with British troops. John Bull bellowed in Mussolini's face. England forced the League to impose sanctions, and pleaded with France to support her cause. France held back because of her friendship for Italy and in fear lest Mussolini would be driven into the arms of Hitler. Britain was disgusted.

Now things are different. France is begging for English support against Hitler, and the British are holding back.

Mussolini plays it safe, offering his support in return for a lifting of sanctions. As a way out England proposes to look into Hitler's suggestion that the nations of Europe seek a basis for new peace pacts. But France has no stomach for negotiations while the Germans occupy the Rhineland, yet she knows that the use of force means a general war. At present nobody can afford to fight. Europe finds it embarrassing to get along without a war when the opportunity for a good fight is so apparent. National poverty has its disadvantages.

Taxing Big Ones

"I'm making little ones out of big ones," said the prisoner on the rock pile, never dreaming that Uncle Sam was planning to do the same thing with the new tax proposals. President Roosevelt has long had in mind the redistribution of wealth. He and his administration have managed to distribute a few billions but the wealth is becoming rather difficult to get and something must be done to tap the huge reserve profits of corporations.

High corporation taxes have been previously suggested, but congress has managed to buy the idea without making a political commitment. Now comes the necessity for additional funds. Congress has been voting some rather large obligations, which must be met. The administration finance experts go into a bubble, and the President comes to Congress with this.

"Here, boys, is the old corporation tax plan we might try that as a means of balancing the budget."

The plan was no sooner offered than one senator suggested a flat remission of $500,000 a year. Other suggestions were suggested all over Congress.

There are two ways of killing an administration proposal such as this. One is to fight it, which would be bad politics just now. The other is to do nothing, which is exactly what Congress will do.

The plan would force corporations to distribute their surplus to stockholders and Uncle Sam would be on hand to tax the increased incomes of investors. He would get the money either way. The real issue is a fight against big business, an effort to make little ones out of big ones in the world of corporations. And the job will be even more strenuous than pounding rocks. In fact there is a doubt if Congress will even attempt it.

This Man Kagawa

The world invariably recognizes a great soul in its midst. That accounts for the tremendous reaction which comes from coast to coast are giving Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa, Japanese Christian leader, who has been spreading the gospel of world brotherhood and peace.

Kagawa stands out as one of the human half kind as a result of a intuitive, half blind as a result of a disease incurred during 15 years' work in Oriental slums. This man symbolizes the fundamental tenets of Christianity. He is a miracle of faith and triumphant personality.

Most men would have died under the stress and suffering of his life. But in Kagawa those same tribulations built character.

And now he is visiting America, shrewdly analyzing our people and our times. We have no great positive dream, he tells us. Moreover, he warns, "If you live every day the same way, don't write a diary. Use an adding machine."

Perhaps Dr. Kagawa is right. In any event he has started us a bit from our smug material complacency.

Washington—Many politicians have "pasts" which provide some good reading in election years. Both parties employ trained diggers to unearth the dirt.

Unearth the dirt are some of Roosevelt's utterances as governor of New York which you might compare with some of his statements and actions as president.

Anti-New Dealers have dug up plenty of them, especially those concerning state rights and federal encroachment. Government spending and credit. And no end of diggers, not forgetting Al Smith, have exhumed and fluted off that hoary old legend, the Democratic platform of 1902.

It is the both ways of course and you would have to go far to beat that trio of diggers for the Democratic national committee—Mr. Emil Rieve, Dr. M. Keating, Mrs. Ed Manz and Mrs. J. W. Merrigan.

Voting records usually provide good pickings. Thus, when Chairman Fawcett was going to make a speech in New England and discuss the charge that F. D. R. had flagrantly "tolerated" the platform pledge to cut federal expenses 25 per cent his diggers gave him the following facts: When Congress passed the emergency bill over the president's veto six of the seven Republican senators of New England had voted to restore full vetoes.

Mr. Roosevelt's record on the "P. O. P." benefits. Such celebrated G. P. representatives as Mrs. Rogers, Treadway, and Martin of Massachusetts had joined them.

Dousters are being compiled on the various presidential candidates. Democratic picketers say they have various quotations from Governor Landrum of Kansas in which the candidate had said that "the Negroes of the South are a burden on the nation's resources."

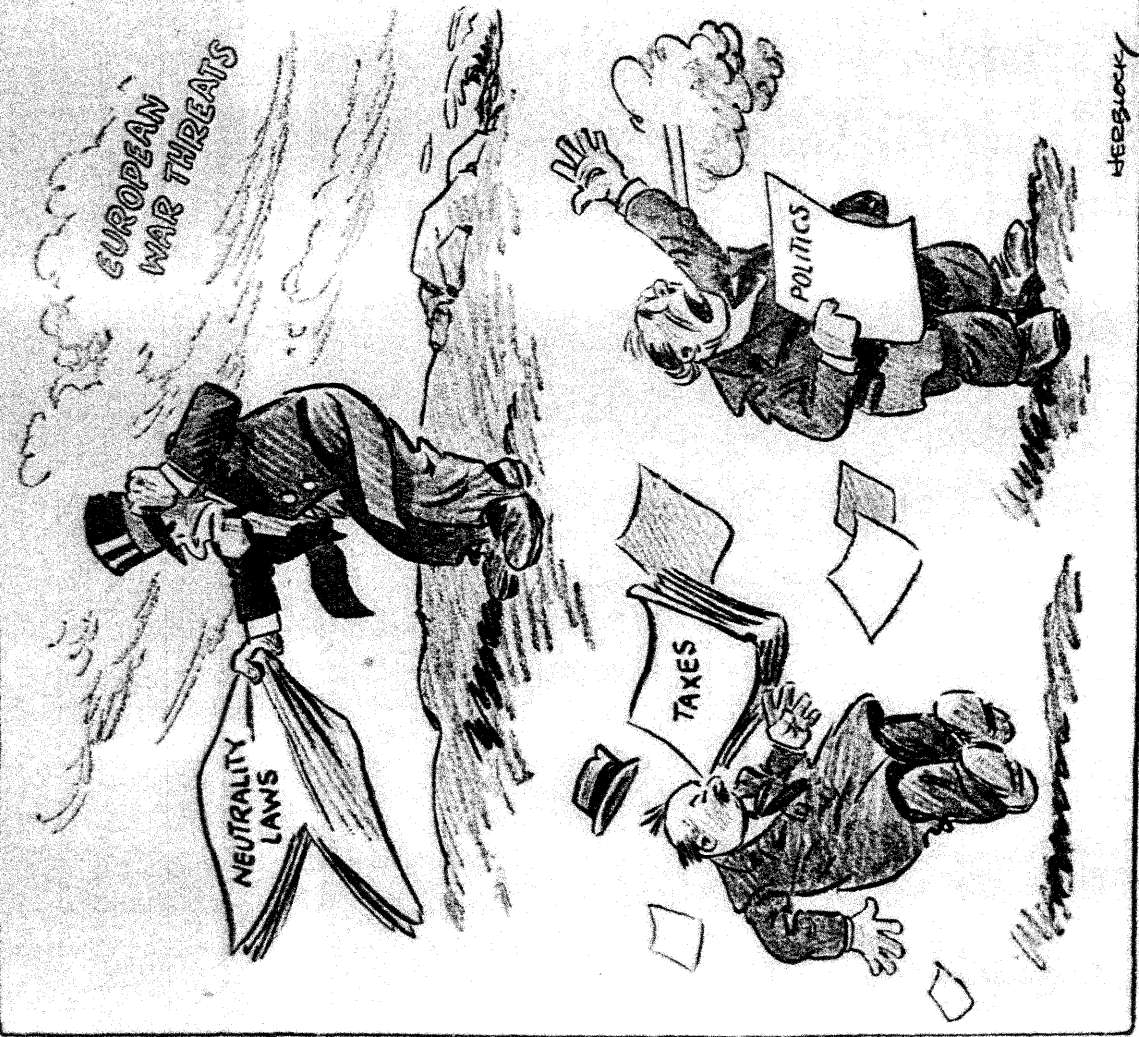

Another Al Smith "Walk"—One of the things you can find in our record if you like is an instance where Al Smith was threatening to

Oil Executive Says Conditions Look Much Brighter

World's Largest Oil Organization Selects Jacksonville for New Expansion

As an indication that conditions generally are improving and that Socomey-Vacuum Oil Company, Inc. have decided to bring their gasoline to this market as a result of their previous market studies.

Mr. George Goller, Socomey-Vacuum's sales manager in this district, stated yesterday that Jacksonville will give them a good volume of business because surveys show that local people are progressive and in sympathy with products and service which is beyond the average.

Mr. Goller arranged for the purchase of the bulk of the gasoline from this plant will be served the seven local dealers who have seeing over to Mobilgas and Mobiloil. The facilities are sufficient to serve many other independent dealers who are expected to handle these products in the near future.

In welcoming Socomey-Vacuum to Jacksonville, the new Mobilgas dealers point out that they are joining the ranks of 15,000 independent dealers of 100,000 gas stations in the United States. At the time of the Socomey-Vacuum expansion, each dealer will be given a year's supply of gasoline at the rate of 1,000 per year. The year's supply will be given at the rate of 1,000 per year.

Other "Socomey-Vacuum" officials from St. Louis who have been in Jacksonville on this local business deal are Mr. Harold Meyers, Mr. of Operations, Mr. A. W. Davis, Assistant District Manager, Mr. A. L. Foster, District Representative.

House-Cleaning Time

"It's house-cleaning time," a local citizen remarked ruefully yesterday, as the warm sun stirred the ambitions of housewives to chase dirt. "The women are cross and the men are tired. The gentleman did not comment further, but our heart went out in sympathy to him. We understood that he was having difficulty at home, but we knew also that once the spring cleaning is finished, everything will be all right."

We reminded him that these are premature spring days, and there is likely to be some chilly weather even yet. But he refused to be comforted. "Spring's here anyway," he insisted, "and it's house-cleaning time." Evidently he had given the same warning to his women folks, but it went unheeded.

The average man is a quiet-loving creature. He likes to have a place for everything at home, and to find everything in its place when he wants it. If things are not where he expects to find them, he is helpless. He also has a feeling that when he has finished a hard day's work in the office or the shop, that should end it. But when he reaches home, he is called on to mount stepladders, take down or put up curtains, beat rugs, wax floors, and move furniture. He may even have to spread paint in his spare time.

Fortunately the orgy of cleaning does not last long, else there might be some domestic upheavals. When it is finished, the citizen breathes a sigh of relief as he recognizes his surroundings, once more familiar after a veritable tornado. His wife also is relieved; the house is clean for the summer season. Domestic peace returns, and the family resumes normal living, with meals served in the accustomed place, and the furniture where it ought to be. There are no curtain rods on the chairs, no wall pictures piled on the library table. Maybe house-cleaning time is here, but we can anticipate the day when the job will be finished.

John Bull on The Spot

The sudden occupation of the Rhineland by German troops has placed England in an embarrassing position. The European chessboard has been so complicated that it is a problem for experts, one which they would like to push into the background. But England is on the spot, and she holds the key to peace or war in Europe.

It will be remembered that the British sought aid everywhere in their attempt to put a curb on Italy in Ethiopia. Their ships prowled the Mediterranean, Egypt swarmed with British troops. John Bull bellowed in Mussolini's face, England forced the League to impose sanctions, and pleaded with France to support her cause.

France held back because of her friendship for Italy and in fear lest Mussolini would be driven into the arms of Hitler. Britain was disgusted. Now things are different. France is begging for English support against Hitler, and the British are holding back.

Mussolini plays it safe, offering his support in return for a lifting of sanctions. As a way out England proposes to look into Hitler's suggestion that the nations of Europe seek a basis for new peace pacts. But France has no stomach for negotiations while the Germans occupy the Rhineland; yet she knows that the use of force means a general war. At present nobody can afford to fight. Europe finds it embarrassing to get along without a war when the opportunity for a good fight is so apparent. National poverty has its disadvantages.

Taxing Big Ones

"I'm making little ones out of big ones," sang the prisoner on the rock pile, never dreaming that Uncle Sam was planning to do the same thing through the new tax proposals. President Roosevelt has long had in mind the redistribution of wealth. He and his administration have managed to distribute a few billions, but the wealth is becoming rather difficult to get, and something must be done to tap the huge reserve profits of corporations.

High corporation taxes have been previously suggested, but congress has managed to buy the idea without making a political commitment. Now comes the necessity for additional funds. Congress has been voting some rather large obligations, which must be met. The administration finance experts go into a huddle, and the President comes to Congress with this:

"Here, boys, is the old corporation tax plan. We might try that as a means of balancing the budget."

The plan was no sooner offered than one senator suggested a flat exemption of $500,000 a year. Other exemptions were suggested all over Congress. There are two ways of killing an administration proposal such as this. One is to fight it, which would be bad politics just now. The other is to smother it with amendments and limitations, which is exactly what Congress will do with the corporation tax plan.

The plan would force corporations to distribute their surplus to stockholders, and Uncle Sam would be on hand to tax the increased incomes of investors. He would get the money either way. The real issue is a fight against bigness, an effort to "make little ones out of big ones" in the world of corporations. And the job will be even more strenuous than pounding rocks. In fact there is a doubt if Congress will even attempt it.

This Man Kagawa

The world invariably recognizes a great soul in its midst. That accounts for the tremendous reception which cities from coast to coast are giving Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa, Japanese Christian leader, who has been spreading the gospel of world brotherhood and peace.

Kagawa stands out as one of the humanitarians of the century. Diminutive, half blind as a result of a disease incurred during 15 years' work in Oriental slums, this man symbolizes the fundamental tenets of Christianity. He is a miracle of faith and triumphant personality.

Most men would have died under the stress and suffering of his life. But in Kagawa these same tribulations built character.

And now he is visiting America, shrewdly analyzing our people and our times. We have no great positive dream, he tells us. Moreover, he warns, "If you live every day the same way, don't write a diary. Use an adding machine."

Perhaps Dr. Kagawa is right. In any event he has jarred us a bit from our smug material complacency.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

Some Amusing "Dirt" Dug Out of Politicians' "Pasts" . . . Utterances of F.D.R. Are Compared . . . Another "Walk" by Al Smith Is Recalled . . . Roosevelt Revealed as "Foe" of Britain in Boer War . . . Tugwell Poetry Bared.

By RODNEY DUTCHER Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington—Many politicians have "pasts" which provide some good reading in election years.

Both parties employ trained diggers to unearth the dirt.

For instance, there are some of Roosevelt's utterances as governor of New York which you might compare with some of his statements and actions as president.

Anti-New Dealers have dug up plenty of them, especially those concerning state rights and federal encroachment, government spending and credit. And no end of diggers, not forgetting Al Smith, have exhumed and dusted off that hoary old document, the Democratic platform of 1932.

It works both ways, of course, and you would have to go far to beat that trio of diggers for the Democratic national committee—Mr. Emil Hurja, Mr. Charlie Michelson, and Mr. Eddie Roddan.

Voting records usually provide good pickings. Thus, when Chairman Farley was going to make a speech in New England and discuss the charge that F. D. R. had flagrantly violated the platform pledge to cut federal expenses 25 per cent, his diggers gave him munitions in the fact that when Congress smashed the economy act over the president's veto, six of the seven Republican senators of New England had voted to restore full veterans' benefits. Such celebrated G. O. P. representatives as Mrs. Rogers, Treadway, and Martin of Massachusetts had joined them.

Dossiers are being compiled on the various presidential candidates. Democratic placers say they have various quotations from Governor Landon of Kansas in which he endorsed large gifts of the New Deal. They claim they can embarrass him in eastern cities by dry speeches of his past, including such an alleged remark as "The blood of the W. C. T. U. flows in my veins"—although, of course, a lot of us boys could say that.

The best thing that can be said for all these exhumations of lines of living politicians is that they may displace the recent barrage of quotations from Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, and Lincoln that has been hurled at us.

Another Al Smith "Walk" One of the things you can find in the record if you like is an instance where Al Smith was threatening to starve meeting Wilbur Chamber No. 358 Thursday, 7:30, Masonic Temple, Pot luck 6:30—Work. Laura Hatfield, W. M. Clara Magill, Sec.

'THE WIND BLOWS WILD AND FREE'

take a spectacular "walk" many years ago.

It was at the Democratic state convention in Syracuse, N. Y., in 1920, when Boss Charles Murphy of Tammany was in full control. Smith had been okayed for the Democratic nomination.

Without Smith's knowledge, Murphy patched up a peace with William Randolph Hearst, who had been attacking him unmercifully for years, and promised to have Hearst nominated for the U. S. Senate. But Hearst had made scathing attacks on Smith, too.

"No!" shouted Al to Murphy. "I won't run on any ticket with him. If Hearst is on, I'm off; if I'm on, he's off."

Smith threatened to take the floor of the convention and denounce the Tammany ticket. Murphy capitulated and Hearst didn't go "on." Today Smith and Hearst are on the same side in a bond of opposition to Roosevelt and the New Deal.

An Enemy of England! And here's an item in Roosevelt's past life which seems to have escaped notice.

Congressman A. Platt Andrew of Massachusetts recalls how, during the Boer War, sentiment at Harvard University was strong for the Boers as against the British. He and another fellow started a fund to aid the Boers and they raised $1,500.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Dutch by ancestry, was treasurer of the fund.

Tugwell Exposed Thus far nothing has happened to anyone else as bad as happened to Rex Tugwell. The enemy once dug up some samples of his early poetry. That was enough to prove that Tugwell wasn't a politician. No politician ever was caught like that. (Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.)

Mrs. H. W. English is Author of Volume On 1812 Veterans

Compiles Roll of 1,477 Men Buried in Illinois Who Fought the British

Mrs. Henry William English, Illinois state chairman of Grave Location in the U. S. Daughters of 1812, has compiled a volume entitled "Roll of Honor"—Veterans of the War of 1812, Buried in the State of Illinois.

There are 1477 names contained in the list, which has been presented by Mrs. English to the Illinois State Historical Society from the U. S. Daughters of 1812. The original will be presented in April at the Associate Council meeting to the National Society of the U. S. Daughters of 1812 by the State President, Mrs. George F. Tibbitts.

Mrs. English as a state officer in this important historical work has been untiring in locating the graves of veterans, collecting records verifying and marking them. This service to the society and the people of Morgan county and the state is remarkable in its scope and is a heritage for the generations to come, giving invaluable historical data.

The foreword is written by Mrs. English in which she states that a list of graves marked by the State society is appended. There are twelve hundred names and places of burial listed, arranged by counties, cemeteries and towns and forms a concise record for all interested in these historical facts.

The volume is in blue and gray with gold lettering and is a handsome edition.

FAILURE OF USUAL STORAGE ADDS TO SEED CORN CRISIS

Urbana, Ill.—Farmers throughout Illinois are becoming more alarmed over the seed corn situation as tests reveal that storage which would have been safe in other years has failed to protect germination during the record cold weather of the past winter. It is reported by George H. Dungan, associate chief in crop production at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Unfortunately too many farmers have not yet found this out, he said. Their seed corn has never failed before, and they have handled it the same way this past winter that they always have.

Unless they act soon, the time will be so short when they awaken to their plight that little can be done about it, Dungan warned. Spring farm work will be under way in competition with seed corn testing.

Even if he followed the usually safe method of rack-curing or hanging-drying his seed corn, no farmer can afford to take a chance without ear testing, unless the seed had the added protection of heat to dry it out before the cold weather struck, Dungan warned.

"Farmers in Warren, Marshall, Putnam, and Bureau counties have been among the most recent to make this disappointing discovery. Well-matured corn selected from the field before the October 6 killing frost and stored on hangers in an unheated room germinated only 10 per cent. The same kind of corn selected from the field the same day, but stored in a cooperative seed house supplied with some heat germinated 98 per cent strong.

"The only corn that looked promising enough for seed in a recent meeting in Warren county was some that had been stored in a furnace-heated basement. A good looking sample in Marshall-Putnam counties had been stored in an upstairs spare room supplied with some heat through a register from the living room below."

"Y" Work in Hawaii Related by Speaker

Miss James of Springfield Y.W.C.A. Gives Address at College Chapel

Miss Genevieve James, executive secretary of the Y.W.C.A. at Springfield, and former Y.W.C.A. secretary in the Hawaiian Islands, addressed the Illinois College assembly yesterday morning, using the work of the Y.W.C.A. in foreign fields as her subject.

Miss James opened her address with a brief outline of the history of the Hawaiian Islands, and then branched into the work of the Y.W.C.A. on the islands.

The speaker told of the early religious of the Hawaiians and of the destroying of the old beliefs. The work of various natives was important in this field, but it left the nation with no religion. The first Missionary society was founded on the islands in 1827 and paved the way for the work of the Y.W.C.A. later.

Miss James concluded her talk with a brief resume of the attitude of the foreign nations toward the Y.W.C.A. today.

The assembly was in charge of Dean Clara B. Williams of Illinois College. Before the address the girls' glee club presented a brief program.

Miss Margaret Elliott, president of the Illinois College Y.W.C.A., introduced the speaker and announced a tea to be held Sunday afternoon at the David A. Smith house for all college women and the wives of the faculty.

Tigers Leave For Pittsfield Tournament Tonight; J.H.S. Ready

Brooklyn Dodgers Stand Out As Year's No. One Mystery Team in National League

By Eddie Bricks, Associated Press Staff Writer
Clearwater, Fla., March 10.—(AP)—These merry Brooklyn Dodgers stand out as the year's No. 1 mystery team in the National League.

As to whether they'll pace the second division again, sink to the lowly levels of the Phillies and Boston Bees, or even edge into the upper bracket, one guess is as good as another.

Maestro Casey Stengel is as much in the dark as anybody. All he knows is he has a flock of ball players down here. He hasn't the faintest idea who'll be there, or why when the time comes to answer the opening goes.

"We're going to try one of those noble experiments," said Stengel today. "That is, we're going to lose a lot of money in the hope and see what comes out."

First year men hold the key to the situation. While the 1935 Brooklynans are sure to be stronger in some spots, how they'll shape up in other departments entirely on the work of some of the cubs.

During the winter Stengel made three big deals, involving 13 players and nearly $500,000 in cash, with the Giants, Bees and Newark International.

Ed Brandt, southpaw, Fred Frankhouse, veteran right-hander, and outfielder Randy Moore were acquired from Boston in return for Catcher Al Lopez, Pitchers Ray Benge, Johnny Babich and Bobby Rea; Infielder Tony Cuccinello and Outfielder Gene Moore. Sam Leslie, first sacker, went to the Giants for $200,000 and the Dodgers then gave Newark $40,000.

Outfielder Ralph Boyle and First Baseman Johnny McCarthy for Buddy Hassett, one of the best looking first sackers in the minors.

This big turnover will enable Stengel to start the race with a veteran pitching staff, fair catching, an uncertain infield and an outer defense that may be very, very good or just the reverse.

Brandt and Frankhouse are figured to be regular starters along with William Watson Clark. Another left hander, George Earnshaw, who is in the best shape of his career, and Van Lingle Mungo, the ace of the staff. The latter still is listed as a holdout but his early signing is regarded as a certainty.

Emil Leonard, the sinker ball expert, will share the relief duties with the veteran Tom Zachary. Al Rulcher and Wayne Osborne, two big right-handers from Galveston and the San Francisco Missions, look best among the youngsters.

Most of the catching will be done by Gordon Phelps, Lopez' under study last year. Raymond Bervies, leading catcher of the Pacific Coast League in 1935, and Walker Millies, from Chattanooga, are fighting it out for the second string berth.

Two of the four infield positions must be filled by youngsters. "Hase" will be at first and Lulus Frey at short. Vincent Sherlock from Indianapolis likely will get the call at second with either Jimmy Bucher or Freddy Lindstrom, picked up from the Cubs, at third.

Joe Stripp, hold-out third sacker, is not figuring in Stengel's plans. He is not in camp and is not expected. Lindstrom will be used where he best fits. If he doesn't play third, he'll start in one of the outfield berths.

In addition to Stan Bordagaray, the speedy Frenchman, Randy Moore and Danny Taylor, of last year's team, those battling for outfield jobs are John Cooney, who hit .371 for Indianapolis; Oscar Eckhart, who had a .395 average with the San Francisco Missions, and Colonel B. Mills from Rochester. Every outfield berth is wide open.

Valley Champs Meet Payson Tonight

Pittsfield, Northwestern division, Valley Champs, will play Payson tonight in the second game of the Pittsfield sectional tournament. The Indians finished second to Hull in their regional tournament.

Discuss Favorites In Coming Tourney

Two Outstanding Teams Will Meet Wednesday Night

By PAT HARMON
(Written for The Associated Press)
Champaign, Ill.—(AP)—Almost without exception, the outstanding favorites for the State High School basketball championship appear to have clear roads ahead in the sectional tournaments which open tomorrow night.

The one place where favorites clash in the first round is Champaign. Danville, unbeaten in 17 starts, runs into Brocton, winner 26 times in 29 attempts.

At Moline, three of the four strongest teams are drawn in the lower bracket. East Moline plays Galesburg and Kewanee meets Monmouth. East Moline has been a standout all season but split its two games with Galesburg, winning the first 34-14 and dropping the second 19-14.

The unbeatable late season spurt by Galesburg causes much conjecture about the outcome of this game. Kewanee is a contender in the bracket, in the upper bracket, Moline has easy sledding ahead.

Gillespie's sectional drew four good teams in Edwardsville, Vandalia, Litchfield and Stoughton. Should the first two reach the final game, they will meet for the third time this season. Edwardsville won the first two. The Tigers also have beaten Litchfield twice and split with Stoughton.

Springfield's defending champions drew fairly hard opposition for their sectional at Decatur. They make their first start against Cerro Gordo and if they win the opener must play either Athens or Decatur in the semi-finals. Athens has whipped the Solons twice, while Decatur split a two-game series with the title holders. Past experience, however, has shown that previous scores mean little when playing Springfield in a tournament.

The class of the north shore area will assemble at Libertyville, where Providence High of Maywood, Chicago Suburban League champion, is somewhat of a favorite over Crane Tech, Chicago, entrant, Waukegan, and Deerfield-Shields of Highland Park.

Joliet's great team, beaten but once in 19 games, faces Farragut, Chicago's outstanding team, in its first game at Joliet. LaGrange and Calumet City are other favorites there.

A small town champion may emerge from the Kaukaia meet, where Paxton and Hoopesville, each beaten but twice in nearly 30 games, tie with Kaukaia for the favorite's designation.

Peoria always a Tartar on its own floor, may have enough drive to win its own sectional. Its hardest games will be at the start. The Peoria's first game will be against Rockford or Fulton. The last named is a small school in Carroll county that has won 22 out of 23 games.

A wide open affair, DeKalb's sectional will cause a flock of headaches. Harlem, a Rockford school victorious in 25 of 27 games, faces Streator of the Big Twelve in the first game, with West Aurora and Waterman following. Dixon of the North Central Conference and DeKalb-Peru, second place team of the Big Seven, come next with DePue playing Hampshire. Every team except Hampshire rates a good chance to earn a place in the state finals.

Peoria Manual, Pekin, Peoria Central and Canton—perennial contenders for the state championship in years gone by—are listed, but only Canton and Central of the quartet have shown flashes of former prowess. Colchester is an outside shot at Peoria.

I.S.D. Meets Beardstown, in Opener; Pittsfield Tackles Payson in Second of Games

Games Tonight at Pittsfield
7:45 p. m.—I. S. D. vs. Beardstown.
8:45 p. m.—Pittsfield vs. Payson.

Determined to toss themselves into the championship scramble, Illinois School for the Deaf's Tigers will tie into another bunch of Tigers, the latter from Beardstown, in the opening game of the Pittsfield sectional tournament tonight. Pittsfield and Payson will meet in a game bringing together two runners-up for regional honors in the second tussle on the night card.

With three runners-up and one champion in the upper half of the draw at Pittsfield, the Tigers are far from counting themselves out of the championship tussle. They will meet one of the few teams to turn back Rushville this year in their first game, but the local Tigers gain some confidence in the fact that the Beardstown brand of Tigers has not seen the local tail twisting tactics.

Slow in starting, Beardstown appeared to have reached its peak of perfection in the week preceding the regional tournament and during the tournament. They thumped Rushville once in the regular season just before the regional tournament began, and then took the championship away from Rushville with a 21 to 19 decision.

Payson was runner-up at Quincy, tumbling to Quincy in the championship game,

Brooklyn Dodgers Stand Out As Year's No. One Mystery Team in National League

By Eddie Brietz,
Associated Press Sports Writer.
Clearwater, Fla., March 10.—(AP)—Those merry Brooklyn Dodgers stand out as the year's No. 1 mystery team in the National League.

As to whether they'll pace the second division again, sink to the lowly levels of the Phillies and Boston Bees, or even edge into the upper bracket, one guess is as good as another.

Maestro Casey Stengel is as much in the dark as anybody. All he knows is he has a flock of ball players down here. He hasn't the faintest idea who'll be where, or why, when the time comes to answer the opening gun.

"We're going to try one of those noble experiments," said Stengel today. "That is, we're going to toss a lot of ivory into the hopper and see what comes out."

First year men hold the key to the situation. While the 1935 Brooklynians are sure to be stronger in some spots, how they'll shape up in other depends entirely on the work of some of the cubs.

During the winter Stengel made three big deals, involving 13 players and nearly $600,000 in cash, with the Giants, Bees and Newark Internationals.

Ed Brandt, southpaw, Fred Frankhouse, veteran right-hander, and outfielder Randy Moore were acquired from Boston in return for Catcher Al Lopez, Pitchers Ray Benge, Johnny Baubach and Bobby Reis; infielder Tony Cucinello and outfielder Gene Moore. Sam Leslie, first sacker, went to the Giants for $200,000 and the Dodgers then gave Newark $400,000 and outfielder Ralph Boyle and first baseman Johnny McCarthy for a 250-acre tract with the San Francisco Missions, and Colonel B. Mills from this first sacker in the minors.

Big first turnover will enable Stengel to start the race with a veteran pitching staff, fair catching, an uncertain infield and an outer defense that may be very, very good or just the reverse.

Brandt and Frankhouse are figured to be regular starters along with William Watson, Clark, another left hander, George Earnshaw, who is in the best shape of his career, and Van Linsle Munro, the ace of the staff. The latter still is listed as a holdout but his early signing is regarded as a certainty.

Emil Leonard, the sinker ball expert, will share the relief duties with the veteran Tom Zachary. Al Butcher and Wayne Osborne, two big right-handers from Galveston and the San Francisco Missions, look best among the youngsters.

Most of the catching will be done by Gordon Phelps, Lopez' under study last year. Raymond Berries, leading catcher of the Pacific Coast League in 1935, and Walker Millies, from Chattanooga, are fighting it out for the second string berth.

Two of the four infield positions must be filled by youngsters. "Hassett will be at first and Linus Fry at short. Vincent Sherlock from Indianapolis likely will get the call at second with either Jimmy Bucher or Freddy Lindstrom, picked up from the Cubs, at third.

Joe Stripp, hold-out third sacker, is not figuring in Stengel's plans. He is not in camp and is not expected from Boston in return for Catcher Al Lopez, Pitchers Ray Benge, Johnny Baubach and Bobby Reis; infielder Tony Cucinello and outfielder Gene Moore.

Mrs. Dizzy Take Hand for Family

Is Going to See That Mister Dizzy Gets Square Deal

Bradenton, Fla. —(P)—The Dizzy Dean hold-out situation became so acute today that Mrs. Dizzy personally assumed command of future maneuvers.

"I'll be right there when and if Dizzy goes to sign and I'll give him the O.K. before he sets his name down," said Mrs. DIZ.

"And furthermore, if they make him 'sit out' this season, I'll cost them double. The Cardinals will have to come through with this year's back pay before he'll sign for 1937."

"That's right," put in Dizzy, "we will fix 'em."

The Deans (Mr. and Mrs.) still insist Jerome Herman will not so much as throw a ball for the Cardinals unless he is paid $40,000 for the year's work.

As for brother Paul's difficulties with the Cardinals, Dizzy says he knows nothing.

"What I do know is that without me and Paul the Cards will finish in the second division," he said.

Mrs. Dean said Dizzy has a radio offer and also can go to work selling furniture at $25,000 per year.

Stories that Joe Engel, president of the Chattanooga Baseball club, had offered Dean $15,000 to meet him in a six-round bout were laughed off by Dizzy.

"The guy called me on the telephone and after calling me all the names he could think of, said he wanted to badly enough, he could come on down here and save his $15,000. I'll fight him for nothing."

Discuss Favorites In Coming Tourney

Two Outstanding Teams Will Meet Wednesday Night

By PAT HARMON
(Written for The Associated Press)
Champaign, Ill. —(P)—Almost without exception, the outstanding favorites for the State High school basketball championship appear to have clear roads ahead in the sectional tournaments which open tomorrow night.

The one place where favorites clash in the first round is Champaign, Danville, unbeaten in 17 starts, runs into Brocton, winner 26 times in 29 attempts.

At Moline, three of the four strongest teams are drawn in the lower bracket. East Moline plays Galesburg and Kewanee meets Monmouth. East Moline has been a standout all season but split its two games with Galesburg, winning the first 34-14 and dropping the second 19-14. The remarkable late season spurt by Galesburg causes much conjecture about the outcome of this game. Kewanee also is a contender in the bracket, in the upper bracket. Moline has easy sledding ahead.

Gillespie's sectional drew four good teams in Edwardsville, Vandalia, Litchfield and Staunton. Should the first two reach the final game, they will meet for the third time this season. Edwardsville won the first two, but the local Tigers gain some confidence in the fact that the Beardstown brand of Tigers has not seen the local tail twisting tactics.

Springfield's defending champions drew fairly hard opposition for their sectional attempt at Decatur. They make their first start against Cerro Gordo and if they win the opener must play either Athens or Decatur in the semi-finals. Athens has whipped the Solons twice, while Decatur split a two-game series with the title holders. Past experience however has shown that previous scores mean little when playing Springfield in a tournament.

The class of the north shore area will assemble at Libertyville, where Proviso High of Maywood, Chicago Suburban League champion, is somewhat of a favorite over Crane Tech, Chicago entrant.

Deerfield-Sherids of Highland Park, Joliet's great team, beaten out once in 19 games, faces Farragut, Chicago's outstanding team, in its first game at Joliet. LaGrange and Calumet City are other favorites there.

A small town champion may emerge from the Kankakee meet, where Paxton and Hoopesville, each beaten but twice in nearly 30 games, vie with Kankakee for the favorite's designation.

Peoria, always a Tartar on its own floor, may have enough drive to win its own sectional. Its hardest games will be at the start. The Pre-Joliet and Fulton. The last-named is a small school in Carroll county that has won 22 out of 23 games.

A wide open affair, DeKalb's sectional will cause a flock of headaches. Harlem, a Rockford school victorious in 25 of 27 games, faces Streator of the Big Twelve in the first game, with West Aurora and Waterman following. Dixon of the North Central Conference and LaSalle-Peru, second place team of the Big Seven, come next with DePue playing Hampshire. Every team except Hampshire rates a good chance to earn a place in the state finals.

Peoria's entry list reads like a passing of the old guard. Peoria Manual, Pekin, Peoria Central and Canton—perennial contenders for the state championship in years gone by—are listed, but only Canton and Central of the quartet have shown flashes of former prowess. Colchester is an outside shot at Peoria.

File Additional Briefs Attacking Guffey Coal Act

Supreme Court Prepares to Hear Arguments on Law's Validity

Washington —(P)—Additional briefs attacking and defending the Guffey Coal Act were received by the Supreme Court today as it prepared to hear arguments on validity of another New Deal law—the 1933 "truth in securities" act.

The Guffey measure to regulate production and prices in the soft coal industry was defended in a brief submitted by Washington State and attacked in a document presented by James Waller Carter, West Virginia coal operator whose suit against the act will be argued tomorrow or Thursday.

In addition the Carter Coal Company, of which Carter is an official, asked the court not to harm the concern in handing down its decision. Carter brought suit against the company to restrain it from abiding by the coal code to regulate the industry.

Washington, through Attorney General C. W. Hamilton, contended that the cost of regulating the industry presents a "great obstacle which can only be hurdled by the federal law placing the same burdens upon the industry throughout the country and amongst the various states."

The Carter brief, referring to the 15 per cent tax imposed on coal production, asserted that "the penalty device to prevent resort to the courts is one of the most familiar practices of a despotic government which this court has repeatedly struck down."

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE.

With three runners-up and one champion in the upper half of the draw at Pittsfield, the Tigers are far from counting themselves out of the championship tussle. They will meet one of the few teams to turn back Rushville this year in their first game, but the local Tigers gain some confidence in the fact that the Beardstown brand of Tigers has not seen the local tail twisting tactics.

Slow in starting, Beardstown appeared to have reached its peak of perfection in the week preceding the regional tournament and during the tournament. They thumped Rushville once in the regular season just before the regional tournament began, and then took the championship away from Rushville with a 21 to 19 decision.

Payson was runner-up at Quincy, tumbling to Quincy in the championship game, while Pittsfield was runner-up in its own district, losing to a red-hot Hull quintet.

Final approval of the deaf plans for attending the Central States tournament at Flint, Michigan, if they should lose their first game in the sectional tournament, has not yet been given. The Tigers have participated in the Central States tournament for the past twelve years, and have been one of the schools which has kept this highly attractive meet alive, despite the heavy expense in connection with it.

Burns Picks Starters
Coach S. Robey Burns expects to start Wells and Otten, forwards, Baumann, center, Arman and Dhondt, guards.

Jacksonville high's regional champions will be honored at a pep meeting to be held this morning at the high school auditorium when representatives of the four men's luncheon clubs send delegates to the high school. Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and the American Business Clubs will be represented at the meeting.

The pep meeting will be in the nature of recognition of the fine record the team has made this year, and a send-off for the sectional tournament.

COLLEGE ORCHESTRA GIVES CONCERT HERE

Tuesday evening had been eagerly awaited by those familiar with the work of the college orchestra, conducted by Henry Ward Pearson, director of the School of Music.

The orchestra has become a permanent part of the cultural life of the community drawing orchestral from the city as well as furnishing a school of experience for students. It is particularly gratifying to see the same players at certain desks from year to year. It is these seasoned players who furnish the continuity so necessary for the development of such an organization.

The concert of this season is certainly the best concert yet given by these players. The attacks, the rhythms and the tempi combined to give a finish not formerly attained.

There were old favorites, like the Bourree, by Bader and the Gmajor Symphony by Haydn; and there were richly contrasting modern numbers. The Haydn Symphony is one almost sure to be annually heard in every orchestra hall in the world. Its timeless simplicity makes a universal appeal and its freshness is perennial.

The College Choir, under the baton of Mr. W. Z. Fletcher sang four beautiful numbers. The balance of the voices, the diction and the nuances give the listener a sense of uplifted satisfaction that is the result only of artistic work.

The concert was in every way a success; the large audience showed its approval by vociferous applause, as well as by expressed pleasure after the concert was over; on every hand words of commendation were to be heard both for the leaders of the two organizations and for those participating in the interpretations.

Poultry and Eggs Profitable Produce

Raising Chickens for early marketing is usually a profitable venture. True, it requires some work, but it pays. To get the best out of it, an early start should be made.

Maintaining flocks for the production of eggs also is profitable, and this too requires care and work in order to produce the egg that brings the better prices.

I.C. Dramatic Club To Present Three Playlets This Week

Show Will Run Three Nights at Russel Theater, March 11, 12, and 13

Illinois Dramatic club will present one-act plays tonight, Thursday and Friday nights in the Russel Little theatre at 8 p. m. Three plays will be given each night. "The Slump," "The Mourners" and "The Flitch of Bacon" form the group to be staged. Under the direction of Mrs. Paul Thompson and Professor Franchiere the cast have been rehearsing for several weeks, so that the production might be a polished performance. Mary Mina Thompson and Lenore Sperry are helping direct the plays.

The plays in this group, all of which were written by the Harvard Workshop group of playwrights, form a varied and entertaining program. "The Flitch of Bacon" is a straight comedy, "The Mourners" is a fantasy, and "The Slump" balances the group by its seriousness. "The Flitch of Bacon" is the story of the stratagems adopted by the slightly imbecile Squire, played by Glen Freeman, in his efforts to save the huge flitch of bacon he has offered as a prize to the couple who can live a year without quarrelling. The way in which the prize itself is the undoing of the man and wife, enacted by Harry Story and Betty Ready, who present themselves as candidates for the award, furnishes an ironic climax. John Still, Eldon Olsen, and Frederick Ostbo play supporting roles.

Although there is a sprinkling of new faces in this week's plays, almost all of the players have appeared in previous Dramatic club productions, and many of them have taken leading roles in a number of the club's big productions. Freeman took an important role in "If I Were King," and Miss Ready starred in "Southern Silhouette" last year, besides appearing in many other character parts. Ray Becker has done consistently fine work in widely varied roles, while Miss Marsh is best remembered as the cabaret singer in "Gold in the Hills." Although Paul Witt has not been active in recent Dramatic club presentations, he was one of the stars of "A Comedy of Errors" two years ago. Miss Bradford played the feminine lead in "Arms and the Man," while her rival for Pterof's affections has carried important parts in Shakespearean productions. Brown is fresh from his fine performance in the leading role of "If I Were King."

Stage crews have been busy for the past week, building new sets and renovating the Little Theatre equipment, which was somewhat damaged during the summer and fall.

CRUISE TO NOWHERE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JANE WESTON feels her dreams have come true when she sets out on a three-week cruise. Quick, accepted in payment for the salary she had been offered for which she worked as a typist suspended publication.

On board the ship, she meets handsome DIRK STROM, expert at jumper, as penitence as her suit. The two are much attracted to each other. Then a misunderstanding comes between them. Jane is attracted by the attentions of TINO ROSSET, opera singer, and Dirk becomes the frequent caller of NORA LANE, famous actress and owner of the Kokkon diamond.

Others among the passengers are: MADAME DOREMUS, wealthy and eccentric; DUTCH LENE, and MANIE JACKSON, a girl who is to turn the Kokkon diamond over to her. They go to her stateroom to get it and find Manie Jackson, dead from a bullet wound. The diamond is found. Snowshoes takes charge of the investigation. Most of the passengers are not aware of the murder, though they know of the "diamond."

Leaving Nansen behind, a storm comes up that threatens to become a hurricane. They get to the passengers to get their life belts.

Madame Doremus' companion, Millie, is missing. She is discovered outside and passenger rush to the door, see Dutch Lene's body. The whole ship is in an uproar.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIV

STILL no report came down from the bridge, though the crew was standing tensely by at stations.

The whole world seemed to pitch underfoot. Passengers were flung headlong on the floor. The ship shuddered violently as her propellers were lifted out of the water. The nervous strain had reached the breaking point, with all the passengers huddled in white-faced groups, when a sudden grinding noise that was different from all the other noises of the ship, assailed them. It was a sharp, grating sound as if of steel on rock.

Then there was a shock, which flung half the passengers on their faces, while the boat quivered from bow to stern.

A white-faced ship's officer came running through the lounge, and spoke to one steward after another, until a wretch of hunched back went up to the ceiling, "On deck!" The ship had been driven off the course, and was now held fast on a coral reef, and water was coming into the hold.

Orders came in short barks now. The SOS was flashing out from the radio control-room, telling the whole world that the de luxe cruise ship Oceanic was fast on a reef, and at the mercy of the hurricane.

When the passengers knew it had happened, their plight was different. Nothing mattered now but the saving of lives. Word came down that the ship was not sinking, but all passengers were to be prepared to take to the boats. They knew that life boats would crumple up like paper on the surf-beaten reef. Members of the crew were marshaling them into order, where they remained, miserably huddled together, clutching their life preservers.

A steward found a few life belts, and there was a mad moment of fear lest the men should stampede for them. Grateful feminine hands received them. But one little girl of four or five, separated from her mother, was found sniveling in a corner, terrified. She hadn't a life preserver, and there was no more to be had.

JANE hugged the child close to her, and Dirk looked around to no avail. He came back to Jane with this desperate message in his eyes, just as the child's mother, face racked with fear, came to snatch up the child.

"Try to calm the parent. In this time of crucial danger Jane sensed Dirk's amazing strength more than ever before. His vitality seemed to flow out and radiate on those who were around him, and needed it. Every person in the lounge seemed to know his presence, his lack of fear.

Jane had a glowing sense of reality in this moment as she sat with Dirk, facing the perils of the storm. She saw in Dirk's very security and protection she had most earnestly desired. She could face anything with him. Glamour and the worldly things didn't matter any longer.

He seemed to know what she was thinking about, and smiled at her. "We were blind," she said, and he smiled more deeply, knowing just what she meant. But she wanted him to know, now, in this hour of danger. "I didn't love Tino. I had come to distrust him. Tonight, dining in his room, I was ever afraid of him. When the first awful blow came his sudden fear wasn't a pretty sight. He seemed to go to pieces. Then his romanticism was a little—chance. I saw him for what he was—a self-seeking, vain."

"Why do you tell me this?" Dirk said, but then he answered her question. "Of course you know Nora Lane was being only kind to me. But what's become of the handsome, moon-struck opera star?"

"Probably with the women and children," Jane said. "When I left him I don't think I wanted to see him again. But I suppose I shall."

SHE let her eyes rove about the great lounge, seeking Tino Rosset, and she saw him where she had expected to see him. He was huddled close to the boat-deck, with a group of passengers, his face ashen with terror. He didn't see anything.

Of all the men on board Tino Rosset was the only man who had on a life preserver.

Tino saw her, and tried to smile, but his features were distorted with fear.

Jane said, "Tino, there's a little girl of four over there who hasn't a preserver. Her mother is frantic."

"No, I can't give it up!" he said, in a thin, agonized wail. "The ship's going to break up. A man hasn't got a chance in this sea!" He hugged his coat closer about him, and began to look around him furtively.

She was right. Tino was a coward. And this was the romantic, glamorous person upon whom she had fastened her dreams! But suddenly Jane's thoughts raced inward, and Dirk saw her eyes become as still, china eyes.

Before Jane could speak a man hit Tino on the mouth, falling him. An angry crowd surged in on him. The Tino scrambled to his feet, blood on his mouth, and whipped out a pistol from an overcoat pocket.

"Stand back!" he commanded, in his shaking voice. "Stand back, or I'll shoot." Then his voice mounted to a scream. "I won't give up my life belt! I won't!" Holding the man at bay with the gun, he backed slowly to the doors, flung them open with the weight of his body, and disappeared along the boat deck.

Jane cried out on impulse, and Dirk was the man who obeyed. He lunged through the door onto the deck.

It was a weird, maniacal the passengers of the stricken O. S. Oceanic witnessed on the boat deck. The waves still broke over the bow and flowed along the polished boards, rendering footing difficult. It was almost impossible for a human being to make any headway against the wind.

Tino had a start, and was clinging to the rail, pulling himself hand over hand against the wind. His progress was incredibly slow as the rivers of water sucked about his legs, but Dirk's progress was not much faster.

Dirk was in a crouching position, head down, making his way into the wind, trying to keep in the lee. He struggled up the cabin wall, occasionally holding on to a demolished deck-chair in its lashings.

It was like a pursuit in slow motion. Tino's face was white and drenched with spray, and agonized. Dirk's was drenched but grim.

A false hand-hold, one had stepped, would lead for either in the race. Tino lost his footing first, and a wave coming down the deck left him floundering like mad in the middle of the floor. Somehow he scrambled to his feet, and got hold of a deck-chair before he was swept away.

Dirk was close behind him, moving cautiously now, for he saw that Tino, tiring rapidly in this strenuous work, was clutching his gun menacingly.

The lights were dim on deck. Tino plunged into a band of blackness, and Jane saw

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JANE WESTON feels her dreams have come true when she sets out on a "three weeks" cruise. Accepted in payment for the salary due her when the magazine for which she worked as a travel suspended publication.

She heard the ship, she meets handsome DIRK STROBE, ski jumper, as penniless as herself. The two are much attracted to each other. Then a misunderstanding comes between them. Jane is attracted by the attractions of TINO ROSSI, opera singer, and Dirk becomes the frequent escort of NORA LANE, famous actress and owner of the Koklin diamond.

Others among the passengers are SNOWSHOES, a detective; MADAME DOREMUS, wealthy and eccentric; DUTCH LENZ and MANNIE JACKSON, blackmailers; KIX HARKIN, a dapper dancer; BAYES, floor show entertainer.

Snowshoes persuades Nora Lane to turn the Koklin diamond over to the pursuer. They go to her stateroom to get it and find MANNIE JACKSON, dead from a bullet wound. The diamond is missing. Snowshoes takes over the investigation. Most of the passengers are not aware of the murder, though they know of the theft.

Leaving Naxos behind, a storm comes up that threatens to become a hurricane. Stewards notify passengers to get their life belts.

Madame Doremus' companion, MIRA, is missing. She is discovered locked in a closet and tells of seeing a masked man trying to steal Madame's jewels. She is heard outside and passengers rush to the door, see Dutch Lenz and overboard. "The whole ship is in an uproar."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIV

STILL no report came down from the bridge, though the crew was standing tensely by at stations.

The whole world seemed to pitch underfoot. Passengers were flung headlong on the floor. The ship shuddered violently as her propellers were lifted out of the water. The nervous strain had reached the breaking point, with all the passengers huddled in white-faced groups, when a sudden grinding noise that was different from all the other noises of the fury, assailed them. It was a sharp, grating sound as of steel on rock.

Then there was a shock, which flung half the passengers on their faces, while the boat quivered from bow to stern.

A white-faced ship's officer came running through the lounge, and spoke to one steward after another, until a welter of hushed voices went up to the ceiling. "On a reef!" The ship had been driven off the course, and was now held fast on a coral reef, and water was coming into the hold.

Orders came in short barks now. The SOS was flashing out from the radio control-room, telling the whole world that the de luxe cruise ship Oceanic was fast on a reef, and at the mercy of the hurricane.

When the passengers knew it had happened, their plight was different. Nothing mattered now but the saving of lives. Word came down that the ship was not sinking, but all passengers were to be prepared to take to the boats. They knew that life boats would crumple up like paper on the surf-beaten reef. Members of the crew were marshaling them into order, where they remained, miserably huddled together, clutching their life preservers.

A steward found a life belt, and there was a mad moment of fear lest the men should stampede for them. Grateful feminine hands received them. But one little girl of four or five, separated from her mother, was found sniveling in a corner, terrified. She hadn't a life preserver, and there were no more.

Before Jane could speak a man hit her on the mouth, falling him. An angry crowd surged in on him. Tino scrambled to his feet, blood on his mouth, and whipped out a pistol from an overcoat pocket.

"Stand back!" he commanded, in his shaking voice. "Stand back, or I'll shoot." Then his voice mounted to a scream. "I won't give up my life belt! I won't!" Holding

Gov. Henry Horner Assails Opponents at Democratic Meet Here

The primary election battle between Governor Henry Horner and the Kelly-Nash forces was fought in part in Jacksonville last night, when Governor Horner directed a withering verbal fire into the ranks of the enemy. Singling out Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago as a particular target, the Governor charged that Kelly wants to rule or ruin in Illinois, and is aligned with interests opposed, rather than friendly, to President Roosevelt.

An audience of more than one thousand persons overflowed the high school auditorium to hear Horner score the forces that are trying to defeat him for the Democratic nomination.

Loud-speakers carried the program to persons outside who could not gain admittance.

Governor Horner ridiculed statements of his opponents, then threw down a barrage of facts in support of his statements. Defending his own administration, denouncing the sincerity of those who seek to nominate another candidate, the Governor assailed "bossism" with a stinging attack.

"Every time the ugly head of untruth rises, we are going to slam it on the jaw with the truth and facts," Horner shouted. "I don't know what the other side stands for, I've been trying for quite a while to find out. The fact of the matter is, my opponent doesn't know what he stands for. Kelly has been down in Florida for the last six or eight weeks and just got back to Chicago, so that my opponent hasn't had a chance to check up and see what he is supposed to stand for."

The Governor provoked gales of laughter with his keen satire of the political situation. He referred once to his opponent as a "dummy," subservient to the bidding of his boss. He mentioned the celebrated "Baby Book" the author of which is running against him in the primary. The Governor poked fun at his foes on this brand of campaign literature.

Horner's talk was the climax of a two hour speaking program during which talks were made by Joseph Spiker, Chicago, candidate for State Treasurer; Homer Mat Adams, Urbana, candidate for State Auditor, and Attorney John Cassidy, Peoria Heights, candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

Each of the speakers lauded the Horner administration, and took cracks at the opposition.

Attacks Combine
Governor Horner wasted no time in attacking the Kelly-Nash combine which is supporting Dr. Herman H. Bundesen in the primary.

"These gentlemen who have spoken before me at this meeting have referred to me as the greatest Governor Illinois has ever had. I do claim to be the greatest Governor—Illinois has had some great Governors, both Democrat and Republican. But it is amusing to me to recall that for several years and up to six months ago these men who now are against me called me that very thing—the greatest Governor Illinois has ever had."

"Statements like those didn't turn my head then and they do not raise my conceit now. All I can say is that I have done a good job."

"I can look into the eyes of every citizen of the State of Illinois without pang of conscience or remorse, knowing with satisfaction that all promises I made as a candidate for Governor have been fulfilled. I told you then that I was no miracle man—a magician who could pull a white rabbit from a hat. I have labored to give the State an administration of which its people and I might be proud."

"I would never have taken this job of Governor unless I meant business, and I have meant business every day," Horner declared.

He then entered a review of his administration, stating that the state tax on real estate was entirely eliminated. The cost of state government was reduced $24,000,000 during the first two years, and the budget balanced to reestablish Illinois' credit. He pointed out that during the last 4 years Illinois schools have received $53,000,000 from the state distributive fund, or almost 100 per cent above the amount of the previous 4 years.

Payment of $73,000,000 in relief funds did not disturb the balanced budget. This money was made possible by the retailers' occupational tax, which Horner roundly defended.

"Where else or how else could this necessary revenue be raised, so that Illinois' destitute might receive aid, and the State derive additional payments from the federal government?" Horner asked. He referred to the fact that other means of revenue were declared unconstitutional, leaving the sales tax as the lone solution. Mayor Kelly, he declared, favored the establishment of the sales tax a few years ago, but is now fighting it.

The Opposition
"For some time I have been trying to figure out what the opposition stands for. That is just one thing and here it is—Boss Kelly, mayor of Chicago, wants to be dictator of all Illinois, and I won't let him. And he's pretty mad about it. That's all there is to this campaign. Kelly would like to be Governor, but he doesn't dare run himself and stand on his record. So he has brought out a 'dummy'."

My self respect I consider above all things, and I wouldn't permit a boss to rule me for a hundred governorships, and a few presidents thrown in."

Horner read a clipping from a newspaper about Kelly's attack upon him, in which the Chicago Mayor stated that Horner would be a drag on Roosevelt in the November election in Illinois. The Governor then referred to the majority he himself received at the hands of Illinois voters in 1932, some 60,000 ahead of the ticket.

"Just who is Kelly tied up with," the Governor inquired. "He is connected with the bitterest enemy of President Roosevelt in the whole nation—a Chicago newspaper. Kelly takes order from them."

Horner referred to the $17,000,000 in the State treasury, which has been the object of attack by his opponents. He explained that this money was set aside for old age pensions and other necessities.

The gubernatorial candidate declared that a canvass of Cook county precincts indicates that he will carry Cook county by between 250,000 and 300,000 votes. He expressed confidence that Democrats of the state will make him their candidate in the fall election.

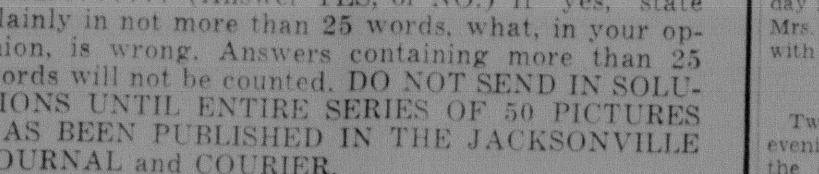

"The boss is on the run and the people are in the saddle," he asserted. "We are going to win because we are right, and that will be the only gauge on the election. No issue will be raised that will not be answered fully."

Governor Horner was introduced by Hayden Walker, business manager of the Jacksonville State hospital, who is president of the Horner for Governor Club here. Walker served as chairman of the evening and introduced all the candidates.

J. H. S. Debaters to Meet Pekin in Contest Today

To Argue Visiting Teams Before Assembly Here This Afternoon

Jacksonville High School debaters seek vengeance today against Pekin for a defeat earlier in the season. The crimson negative team, Ralph Dunlap and Bill Clark, will meet the Pekin affirmative in a decision debated before the J. H. S. assembly. The contest is scheduled to begin at 1:15 with Superintendent R. O. Stoops acting as chairman. Professor George Adams of MacMurray College will be the judge.

Pekin is coached by Theodore Nelson whose teams at Mendota for the past few years have always been among the leaders of the state. His Pekin arguments this year have established themselves as the leading team in the Big Twelve conference and have been participating in several tournaments and interscholastic meets already this season. This will be the first decision of the year for the local varsity negative. Last week-end the J. H. S. girls' teams won the MacMurray tournament and the team which lost to Pekin in February was composed entirely of girls.

While a general assembly will not be called for the debate, because of the small admission fee that is being charged, a large attendance of students is expected. Anyone outside of the school who is interested in debating is invited to come.

Tomorrow, two boys' teams and two girls' teams leave for Fulton, Missouri, for tournaments at Westminster and William Wood Colleges.

Very truly yours,
C. C. GUSTINE Commander,
Jacksonville Post No. 279.

An invitation was read from the Social club of the Chicago organization challenging the local bowling teams to a contest in Jacksonville March 21. Thirty members will come from Chicago.
